THE greatest step the Board of Education has taken this year has been the consolidation of the Junior and the Senior High Schools. A research department has been created to discover the weak spots in the curriculum by educational investigation. Special teachers have been appointed to instruct the under-privileged students in the elementary schools; and provision has been made to enable handicapped children to attend special schools in other communities. A thrift system has been established to encourage economy and to offer instruction in banking. A planned improvement is the building of a gymnasium and some class rooms at the Douglas School. Truly the record of this year shows the progressive attitude of the Board of Education.

Board of Administration

WILLARD E. GOSLIN
Superintendent of Schools

JAMES T. HIXSON
Director of Research

GEORGE A. F. HAY
Principal

J. CARTER ALDRICH
Assistant Principal

A DECIDED change in the school system this year has demanded a corresponding change in the administration. The Frank Hamsher High School and the Junior High School have been reorganized and combined to form the present Webster Groves High School. Mr. Goslin is our new Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Hixson has been promoted to the position of Director of Research over all the Webster Schools. Mr. Hay is ably filling the position of Principal of the Webster Groves High School, with Mr. Aldrich as his assistant. We are indebted to our administrators for their untiring efforts and faithful work to aid in the progress of our school.

The January class of 1931 was a unique one in several ways, setting quite a few new records, breaking some, and tying others. It was the first class of Webster Groves High School to be graduated formally in January, and was one made up entirely of boys.

All of its fifteen members were distinguished in some field. There were some who had gone through school in three and one half years; others who had made it in four; and still others, who had taken a leisurely course of five or six years. But regardless of whether they had been here the usual length of time or not, they all, when questioned, confessed that about six weeks before their farewell, they began to notice the traditional graduating feeling of hating to leave the school and their friends who were still there.

A large group photograph of the 1934-1935 Yearbook Staff. The group consists of approximately 40 individuals, including students and faculty, posed in several rows in front of a classical building with prominent columns. The group is diverse in age and appearance, reflecting the typical look of high school or college students from the mid-1930s. The building behind them has a grand entrance with columns and a pediment. The photograph is in black and white and has a slightly aged, grainy quality.

The "W" Club stands out in the school as a unique organization. It is the most difficult club to join, because a boy cannot be elected to membership until he has won his letter in some sport. Its duties are not those of a purely honorary society, but of a very active organization.

The "W" Club regulates the requirements which a boy must meet to obtain a letter in any of the sports—football, basketball, track, and baseball. The football player of this year had to play at least a part of each of eight quarters, and the basketball player had to participate in sixty per cent of the games to pass the fundamental requirements for his letter. Track athletes had to score a required number of points, and baseball aspirants were, like the basketball team, awarded letters on a basis of games played. The boys also had to obey all training regulations and meet the approval of their coach.

For the first time in many years the traditional "W" Club banquet, which was formerly an annual event in honor of football players, was abandoned. Perhaps the loss of the Kirkwood game was partly responsible for the omission, but the financial difficulties involved and the lack of debating talent among the letter-men were the prime factors in ending a once glamorous occasion. Instead of receiving their letters amid the usual flow of oratory, the football players were recognized in assembly before the whole school.

The football season started out with a promising turnout of nine lettermen and many capable subs. Within two weeks the players who comprised the first string lineup were picked, and scrimmage was started in earnest.

The raising of the football curtain revealed Farmington and Webster lined up on the former's home field. Both teams scored in the first quarter and each garnered the point after touchdown. Webster's touchdown resulted from a series of line bucks. Farmington displayed a fine passing attack which ultimately ended in their lone touchdown. The game ended in a 7-7 deadlock.

The second game of the season was with East St. Louis on their field. The play was marked by several fumbles which proved costly to the Statesmen. East St. Louis was handed two points when Nisbet stepped out of the end zone to attempt a punt. Both teams appeared about even until the last quarter, when the Webster line tired, and the East Siders pushed over a touchdown. At the end of the allotted time East St. Louis was pronounced victor by a score of 8 to 0.

The following week-end revealed the Robertsmen, in their first home game of the season, as hosts to the Beaumont aggregation. A new punch, in the person of Dick Hall had been added in the backfield; and, for the first time of the season, Webster played with a vigor that was not to be resisted. With Dick carrying the ball for long gains, Webster kept the ball almost entirely in Beaumont's territory. Larson plunged through center for six yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and repeated the same performance in the third quarter when Hicks recovered a fumbled punt on Beaumont's five yard line. In the last quarter Webster staged a fifty yard march down the field with Hicks going over with Webster's last touchdown and an 18-0 victory.

On the afternoon of the fourth Saturday in October the U. Citians and a host of followers came out to Webster confident of victory.

With an all county quarter-back, an all county tackle, and leading in the county league race, the U. City team was a big favorite. However, Webster was primed for the battle and played as though inspired. In the second quarter Nisbet intercepted a U. City pass on their 30 yard mark, and on the next play Freschi went through tackle for a touchdown. In the third quarter Webster forced U. City back almost to their goal line; and when the U. City center made a bad pass over the end zone, Webster added another two points. In the final period U. City, in desperation, resorted to pass after pass which finally resulted in a lone touchdown. This was the end of the enemy threat and Webster was proclaimed victor by a 9 to 6 score.

The last Friday in October Webster journeyed to Wellston. The light Wellston team was no match for the heavy Webster outfit and the Robertsmen had no trouble in advancing the ball just about as they pleased. The Websterites failed to get started in the first quarter and there was no scoring. In the second period Webster entered the game in earnest and pushed over three touchdowns. The last score came in the final period and made the result a 24 to 0 victory for Webster.

Football

A FUMBLE

The following Saturday afternoon Webster completely routed the Clayton team. When the game ended Webster's third team had just put over a touchdown to make the score 32 to 0.

The next kickoff was to Maplewood on their field. Upsetting pre-game predictions, the Blue and White played the Statesmen off their feet. The Maplewood line, although at a big weight disadvantage, opened wide holes in the Webster forward wall, and time and again broke through to stop the man carrying the ball. In the second quarter the Robertsmen advanced the ball to the four yard mark where Maplewood held for downs. This was Webster's only threat. In the last quarter the Blue and White almost scored. After a series of long passes they nearly completed a pass over the goal line. Shortly after the game ended in a 0-0 tie.

Thanksgiving Day rolled around and with it came the annual game with Kirkwood. The Lyonsmen kicked off and when they received the ball in an exchange of punts they uncorked a running and passing attack which ended in a touchdown. All this had happened so quickly that the Statesmen were rushed off their feet and the spectators were awe struck. Play see-sawed back and forth the remainder of the first quarter and also in the second quarter until Kirkwood blocked a punt which rolled over the end zone for a safety and two more points. The third quarter was an exhibition of colorless football, both teams making no great gains or serious threats. In the fourth quarter Webster, in desperation, tried everything they could think of which might net a score. Finally, when Kirkwood tried to punt from behind their goal line, Harkey blocked it and Nisbet fell on it for a touchdown. Shortly afterwards, the whistle sounded, and Webster was a completely disgruntled team, losing by a score of 8 to 6.

Football season is over and to many it was a disappointing one. But remember, that when the great scorer comes to write against their names, He asks not if they won or lost, but how they played the game.

Basket-ball

Starting off the season with a surprising 25 to 21 victory over Soldan, the Statesmen enjoyed a successful season by winning twelve of their eighteen games. Of the six games lost, all were close and hard fought, only one being lost by more than five points.

An important factor in the Robertsmen's success was their scoring ability. With the redoubtable Captain, "Tubby" Harkey, and the flashy Bob Devine, sinking goals from any angle, the quintet outscored their opponents by 139 points. While the team was impressive on the offense it was the sterling guarding of Flint and the floor work of Huckleberry that kept the opponents at bay. Moller, at center, was a big asset to the team with his height and ability to get the tip-off. With this team in action Webster had a strong battle front, the team averaging six feet in height.

The outlook for the next season is not so bright, as none of the first stringers will be back. However the entire second team will be back; and, having played a whole season together, should develop into a smoothly working combination.

Shortly after basket-ball season was over the call for adherents of the diamond was sent out, and the response was immediate. There was so much talent lined up that it was difficult to make the cuts. At last however, the final cut was made and the squad got down to business.

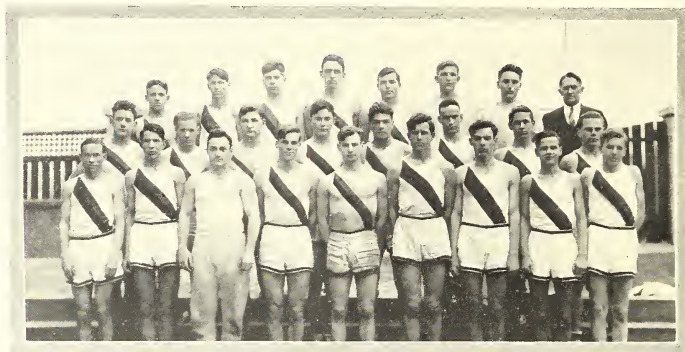

The team was fortunate in having ten lettermen back, two pitchers and a complete team with the exception of center field. However the Gainesmen suffered a blow early in the season when Captain Dick Coates was declared ineligible because of the ten semester rule.

Hemphill was again behind the plate with Hudson and Swan doing the hurling. Moller and Bailey, both heavy hitters, alternated in taking care of first. Anderson, a sub of last year, developed into a real player and held down the second sack. Smith was again gathering them in at short with Honig giving him a battle for the position. At third a newcomer, McKeen, ably filled the shoes of Coates, and was batting in the cleanup position. Barrie was back in left field and was again lead-off man. Wanner was moved over to center field and Kotovsky was in the right garden.

After winning seven out of twelve games last year, the team hoped to do as well in the schedule this year; some of the results of the early games are as follows:

 First Row—Wendel, W. Kelly, Freschi, B. Schmidt, F. Fuchs, James Harkey, Rogers, Gilchrist, Bolter.

Starting off the season with two tough meets, the Booneville Indoor Meet and the State Indoor Meet, the track team showed its strength by taking second place honors both times. Each time the U. Citians were just ahead in the scoring. In the Booneville meet Freschi easily captured the shot put, while Warren Kelly set a new record in winning the high jump at five feet eleven and three-eighths inches. In the State Meet Freschi was again supreme in the shot while Kelly was tied for first in the high jump at five feet ten and one-half inches. Schmidt took second in the broad jump.

The opening of the outdoor season saw Webster turning back St. Charles by a score of eighty-five and one-half to thirty-six and one-half. Freschi was high point man with nineteen and one-fourth markers.

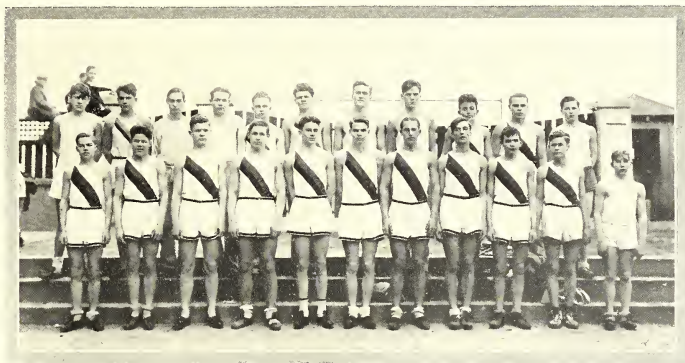

On a Monday afternoon after school the St. Louis U. High tracksters visited Webster and were defeated by an overwhelming score. Because of the limited time a full meet was not run off.

Saturday, April eleventh, the U. City cindermen were hosts to the Webster team and as these two teams were the strongest in the district, the rivalry was quite intense. The Webster Senior's showed their prowess and emerged victorious by a score of sixty-six to fifty-six. Warren Kelly was in rare form, clearing the bar at six feet in the high jump. Freschi was again high point man with sixteen points.

Tuesday, April twenty-eighth, the annual meet with Soldan was held at the Public High School Stadium. Showing a marked superiority in almost every event, the Statesmen were triumphant by a score of ninety-one to thirty-one. Outstanding among the individual stars were Freschi and Burgess. Freschi heaved the shot fifty feet seven inches, while Burgess ran the four hundred and forty yard dash in fifty-three and eight tenths seconds. Harkey was high point man with fourteen points.

The team will defend its district championship which it won last year, in the coming district meet.

First Row—F. Wright, Coggeshall, D. Gibson, Carr, Bohn, J. Chapman, Gill, J. Cox, Timberlake, Maxey, Foote.

The Juniors have worked hard this year to get their team in shape. The team must usually build a whole new combination each year because of the loss of members who have passed the age limit.

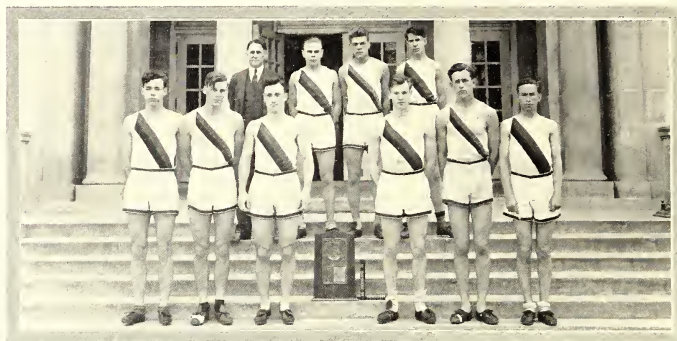

In their first meet the Juniors were quite severely trounced by the U. City athletes, coming out on the short end of a $75\frac{1}{2}$ to $37\frac{1}{2}$ score. Charlie Carr was high point man of Webster's outfit getting 10 points. Carr's toss of 50 feet 10 inches in the shot and 122 feet in the discus were good. Gill outvaulted all comers and reached the height of 10 feet 6 inches, while Wright showed a fast pair of heels in winning the 880 in 2:14.7. Bohn and Cox tied for first in the high jump at 5 feet 3 inches.

In the field events the team shows up very well, but in the dashes and hurdles they are weak.

The Juniors, like their older running mates, won the district championship last year and are working hard so that they may again put up a good fight for the cup.

State Track Champions, 1931

*Top Row—Coach Roberts, Burgess, DeSalm, W. Kelly
First Row—B. Rogers, B. Schmidt, Freschi, Fuchs, Harkey, Wendel*

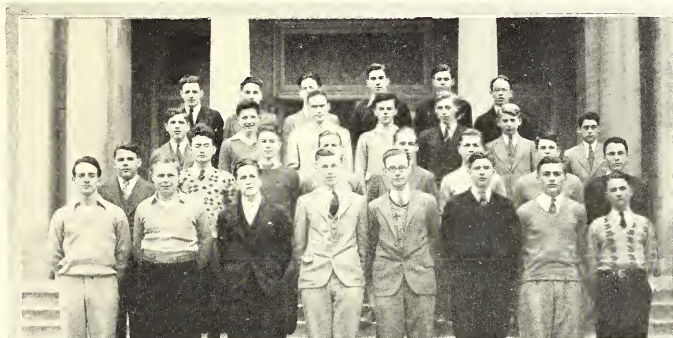

Webster is again the State Track Champion. At the State Track Meet held at Columbia May 1, Webster won first place, and thus attained her fifth championship in fifteen entries.

The 1909 Webster team captured the Class "B" championship, and in 1915 Webster entered the Class "A" and came within one and one-half points of winning the title. Then for three successive years, 1916, 1917, and 1918, we held the throne, taking forty-six points in 1918, the most made by any team at any time in the State Championship Contests. Last year the team came within a fraction of a point of duplicating the results of other Webster State Champion teams.

This year, after an interval of thirteen years, Webster turned the jinx number into a five and one-half point lead over University City, second place winners. Webster scored thirty-one and one-half points; University City, twenty-six; and Maplewood, twenty-two.

The following men competed for Webster: Charles Burgess, 440 yd. dash and relay; Art DeSalm, javelin; Warren Kelly, high jump; Boyd Rogers, hurdles, and relay; Bert Schmidt, broad jump, 100 yd. dash, and relay; William Freschi, 100 yd. dash, shot put, discus, and relay; Captain Frank Fuchs, hurdles; James Harkey, hurdles and discus; Douglas Wendel, 880 yd. dash.

Last September a group of boys met in the home of Jimmie George, reorganized the old Razzers Club, and gave it a definite purpose—"to promote school spirit throughout Webster High School."

The first appearance of the club was at the Farmington football game. During the halves of that and of later contests, the members "put on" stunts. An effigy of Beaumont was given fitting burial ceremonies, and in the Thanksgiving game, if it had not been for the interference of Kirkwood partisans, the high school of that city would surely have died by the guillotine.

The boys have had to face many difficulties. Lack of interest and lack of an enforcable constitution have made the year hard for those who were loyal. However, with all its troubles, the organization accomplished some good results: interest in cheering and cheerleading was greatly stimulated and the stunts of the club topped off a fine afternoon of football.

The history of the Razzers is somewhat hazy. For a while it was a type of honorary organization with each graduating member appointing his successor. But recently, the club has not been so successful as it should have been and out of the last five years has managed to stay in existence only two. The past year marked the second reorganization of the Razzers.

The Pep Club, which was first organized in 1929, met in the auditorium soon after school began in September, 1930. Edna Howze was elected president; Grace Richardson, vice-president; and Margie Major, secretary-treasurer. A uniform was decided upon for the club, and this uniform, a dark skirt, orange sweat-shirt, and a white blouse, was to be worn to all games and on certain specified days. At the second meeting of the Pep Club the name of Racqueteers was voted for and adopted as the future name of the club. A committee with the vice-president as chairman drew up a constitution which the club has since followed. The letters for the sweat-shirts, a "W" with a small "R" at the top, were chosen and have been worn since October. About the middle of October the Racqueteers decided to sell orange and black pennants at the football games and continued to do so through the rest of the games of the season.

Several of the charter members of the club who graduated in June, 1930, bought their letters and continued to attend the games with the Racqueteers.

Along with the Yellow Jackets and Razzers, the Racqueteers took part in the exhibitions given in the field before the football games and helped to decide on a roped-off section for the three clubs.

This club has about thirty-five members and is now planning on taking in any of the new sophomores who wish to come in. The club hopes to give the Racqueteers a good start on their second year as a Pep Organization of Webster High School and thinks that next year it will be much better.

The girls' Athletic Association began its 1930 career with the traditional Sophomore Rush given for the new girls coming into high school. The sophies came attired in kids' clothing—costumes made up of grandmother's lace bib and little sister's three story bonnets.

Kitty Ann Davie carried off the first prize for her original costume. At the mid-year Sophomore Rush Vivian Thomas gained recognition by receiving first prize for her costume—a contrary outfit, half girl and half boy.

Dancing stunts and refreshments furnished entertainment for the sophomores, juniors, and seniors and helped them to get acquainted.

In March the Association held a bakery sale in Old Orchard. The profits went to replenish the treasury, which was much in need of money.

Another high light of the year's events was the "Play Day" sponsored by the University City High School. Twenty girls were elected from Webster's G. A. A. to represent our alma mater at U. City where they helped to put on a very effective and unique day of sports and group entertainment.

The climax of the club's activities was the annual banquet given in the school cafeteria on the twenty-third of April. Heretofore the tables have been only for mothers and daughters, but this year the fathers had places reserved for them, too. The waiters, as usual, were boys chosen by the girls on the varsity basketball and hockey teams.

After a delicious repast prepared by Miss Viola Conrad and her assistants, W's, numerals, and stripes were awarded to the players of the 1930-31 season, who later elected the captains for the basketball and hockey teams for 1932.

The adjournment of this dinner officially closed the year nineteen hundred thirty-one for the Girls' Athletic Association of Webster High.

Varsity Hockey

First Row—Howze, M. Gurley, I. Solomon, Johnstone, Adderly, H. Wolf.*

In its third year at Webster, the hockey season began with renewed vigor. But since hockey makes a great demand upon a player in any kind of weather, the one hundred girls who first came out dwindled to about forty before the season was half over.

The Varsity Team had eight members from the 1930 squad; Ione Solomon, Florence Johnstone, Betty Bowring, Edna Howze, Arline Holland, Genevieve Adderly, Marjorie Gurley, and Marjorie Rosebrough; and the four remaining members added to it were: Harriet Wolf, Fern Way, Martha Murch, and Betty Tackett.

The Athletic Field being used by the football squad, the girls practised at Forty Acres, on Elm Avenue. The field was in the worst condition, but by dint of hard work on Saturday mornings, the girls finally weeded and marked the field.

Scrimmage was held after school and on Saturday mornings. After a month of practise the team played its initial game to Principia and lost 5-1; the second contest was a 3-0 victory over Clayton and the last game, the most exciting and interesting of the season, was a 0-0 tie.

Climaxing the season, came the St. Louis County all-star team tryouts. Marjorie Rosebrough, Martha Murch, and Edna Howze made the team; Marjorie Rosebrough, following two other Webster girls of 1929 and 1930, was elected captain of this honorary team.

Ione Solomon was a worthy captain. Her feeling of responsibility and enthusiasm made her the main-stay of the Webster team.

The Class Hockey Teams were more active this year than ever before. This fact was due to a comparatively new policy here in Webster introduced by Miss Margaret Roark, the girls' coach. The idea was to give more girls a chance to play in the hockey games than in previous years.

The Senior Team made up of Ione Solomon, Florence Johnstone, Betty Bowring, Fern Way, Blanche Hesse, Martha Murch, Betty Tackett, Harriet Wolf, Arline Holland, Genevieve Adderly, Phyllis Walser, Ruth Bowling, Katherine Senne, and Gladys Wedemeier, comprised also the varsity squad and played only two games, one with Wellston, the other with University city.

The Junior Team under Judy Harkey's leadership lost its only game to the formidable U. City. Those on the Junior Team were Maria Louise Coester, Viola Graves, Edith Crawley, Margaret Pritchard, Betty Wagner, Nancy Smith, Frances Freshman, Ruth Beal, Mary Stobie, Judy Harkey, Helen Flint, Marjorie Stephens, Dorothy Aigler, Virginia Koeneman, Viola Comfort, and Helen Stearns.

Thus the 1930 Hockey season came to a close but brought forth bright prospects for the 1932 Varsity.

Varsity Basketball

Top Row—Stobie, K. Edwards, M. Gurley, M. Becker, Judy Harkey.

First Row—Lothman, R. Schmidt, Murch, F. Way, Steele, Booth, M. Rosebrough.

The Varsity Basketball Team was made up entirely of first string players from last year: Ruth Schmidt, Martha Murch, Fern Way, and Marjorie Steele; but there was a complete lack of centers.

After practising for some time, Miss Roark finally picked Jane Booth, one of last year's forwards for run center, and Katherine Edwards as jump center. Making up the rest of the squad were Myrtle Lothman, Lorena Blair, Marjorie Rosebrough, Marjorie Gurley, Marguerite Becker, Mary Stobie, and Judy Harkey.

Webster started the Basket season by tying Principia 31-31. Of the five ensuing games, the girls won four and lost one. In the U. City game the Webster girls were out for revenge and finally conquered the visiting team with a 24-32 score; Webster also vanquished the hostile Maplewood team and paid U. City back for winning from us last year.

The team deserves comment on its exceptional scoring and defensive work this year. Ruth Schmidt alone scored 193 points; Martha Murch was second with 119.

Fern Way, one of the best and cleanest-playing guards in the county, piloted her team through a successful year.

Class Basketball

 First Row—E. Wilson, H. Flint, Judy Harkey, F. Way, M. Becker, N. Smith, E. Holkamp.

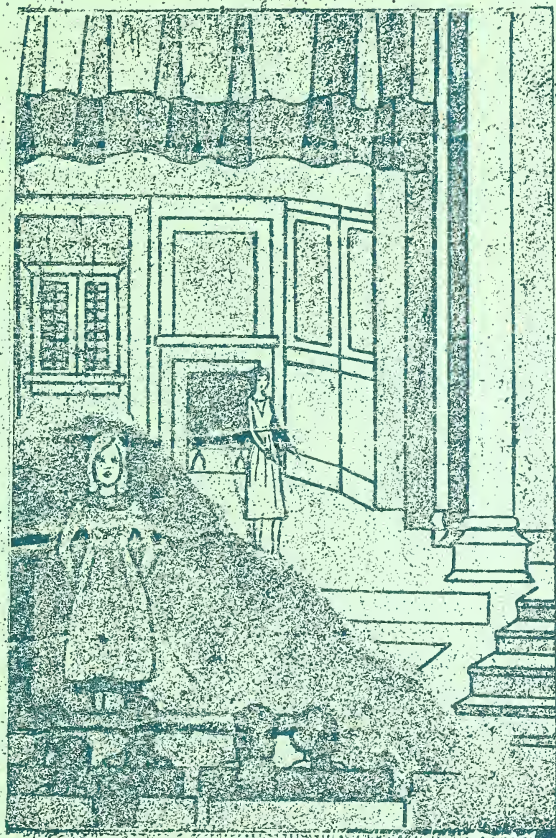

Contrary to custom the class teams did not play among themselves but devoted themselves entirely to other schools.

The seniors had the highest percentage won; their victories were over Brentwood, Wellston, and Ferguson. The senior squad was made up of Florence Johnstone, Elizabeth Dunn, Charlotte Macoy, Ruth Schmidt, Fern Way, Martha Murch, Myrtle Lothman, Lorina Blair, Marjorie Gurley, Marjorie Rosebrough, Phyllis Walser, Katherine Edwards, and Jane Booth. From this squad was chosen the Varsity.

The Junior's team made up of Helen Stearns, Francis Goetz, Lucille Flynn, Frances Fleshman, Virginia Seele, Judy Harkey, Grace Weigle, Virginia Koeneman, Claire Muther, Marjorie Wells, Mary Stobie, Marjorie Stephens, Helen Flint, and Marie Duenke had an average of .500. Their highest scorers were Mary Stobie and Marjorie Stephens.

The Sophomores scheduled three games. They lost to U. City 35-19 and to Hancock 41-26, but by winning from the Wellston Junior team 33-19 the Sophomores redeemed themselves and came out of the class basket-ball season with an average of .333.

This year there was organized in our school a Student Council, whose purpose is to legislate, and administrate a student government, and to foster a closer cooperation between faculty and students.

As a new organization in the six year high school, it had some difficulty at first in finding just the proper place for student government in school life, but at last it succeeded and began to fit itself to its work. It has been busily engaged for the past semester in organizing committees to consider the problems of the moment and to report the best solutions. In the lower school, they have put into force a student jury and a monitor system for the halls. The latest accomplishment has been the establishment of a committee to take care of the assembly programs. The Council, in inaugurating this plan of presenting speakers and entertainers to the student body, has accomplished two main purposes: it has brought before the students the most popular programs, and it has inspired a greater interest and spirit of fellowship in the assemblies of the student body. The Council has also found an interesting and instructive activity in visiting the councils of the other schools as guests and observers. It is now completely organized and ready to start off in full swing next year to give our school an efficient self-governing body.

Conventus Latinus, otherwise known as the Latin Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Hazel K. Farmer, has for many years kept its place in the foremost ranks of clubs in Webster High.

Its aim and purpose, to stimulate an interest in the study of Latin, of the Latin language, and of Roman customs, has been accomplished for the most part through speakers and musical concerts.

This year the majority of the programs have been given by students. Richard Theobald, Bert Schmidt, Margaret Ray, Cottrell Fox, a former Websterite, Jimmie Corner, John Gordon, Chester and Hazel Payne have all entertained the club. Mr. Hixson also has spoken to "Conventus Latinus".

Every year a debate has been given. This year the debate was in the charge of the Cicero class. The question was: Resolved: That the Catilinarian conspirators should not have received the death penalty. Don Ellinger and Bruce Shepherd upheld the negative, while Pauline Hoener and Chester Payne supported the affirmative of the proposition. Briggs Austin was chairman of the program.

It has also been the custom in years gone by for the Latin Club to give a party before the Christmas holidays.

This year Mr. Hixson was invited as guest of honor. Because of the kindness and interest that he has always displayed toward the Latin Club, the members expressed their appreciation by a gift, a lovely desk fountain pen.

The Creative Writing Club was organized this year for the purpose of fostering any literary ability to be found in students of Webster High School. And according to all reports it has succeeded in its purpose.

Talent that has lain dormant along with the pens of our students has been brought to light in the interested atmosphere of the club. A detective story originated by Sterling Smith and carried through a number of stirring chapters by various members of the group was brought to a thrilling conclusion by Ruth Neukum. Robert Johnson, who, the members say, is an authority on weary American doughboys and horribly muddy trenches, wrote an interesting war story. Mary Clymonts worked very hard and finally produced a carefully drawn-up treatise explaining the whys and wherefores of her erratic disposition. A contest was held to choose the best poem, essay, or short story on "Crossing the Bridge." The first prize, a generous five cents' worth of Mr. Hershey's well-known product, went to Dorothy Boyer for an essay on a bridge which separates rather than connects the lives of the Ozark Mountain people.

Among the other features which constituted the year's program were talks by Mrs. Frederick G. Carpenter and Mr. Homer C. Combs. The club also claims another distinction, that of having enrolled a corresponding member, Miss Ann Laura Munro of Chicago, a former student of Webster High.

This year the interest shown in the Girls' Glee Club so far surpassed that of previous years that it became necessary to form two clubs, one composed of experienced girls and one of beginners. Since the Boys' Glee Club was also large, the music director decided to combine the boys and girls into a mixed chorus. This proved to be one of the best Webster has ever had.

Just before the holidays, the clubs presented a Christmas concert of sacred music accompanied by appropriate pantomimes. The boys and girls, wearing white surplices, came down the dark aisle bearing long, lighted tapers and singing a sacred processional. The effect was very beautiful and made the true Christmas spirit live again for all who saw it.

And then along in February, rehearsals were begun for the annual operetta traditionally given by the Club. This year's choice, "The Lucky Jade", a modern play in a romantic southern setting, was presented on April eleventh.

The crowning events in music come during National Music Week in May. On May first the musical organizations represented Webster Groves in the annual contest at Columbia, Missouri. Last year three entries were made in the vocal department, all of which placed, the Girls' Glee Club taking first place, Quartet first, and Mixed Quartet, third.

The Boy's Glee Club has just completed its sixth season—its first under the leadership of Mr. Clarence J. Best who succeeded Mr. Homer C. Combs as sponsor of the organization at mid-year.

The first appearance of the club was before the school body in an early fall assembly when the only number which the members knew was the swaggering Pirate Song, but by Christmas the club was giving programs from a rather varied selection and showed marked progress.

Early in April came the annual operetta, The Lucky Jade, which played before two packed houses. From the operetta the work of the Glee Club can best be judged. The audiences gave their undoubted approval to this year's production and fully justified the large amount of time spent in preparing for it.

Besides devoting a period a day and much outside time for about three months in working for the operetta, the Glee Club spent a great deal of time in practicing contest and concert music.

The two big competitive events of the year were the Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College District tournament at Cape Girardeau and the contests at Columbia during the High School Week celebrated by Missouri University. The boys helped celebrate National Music Week by doing some of their most active work in connection with the nation-wide program. Special groups and choruses were chosen for the contests and concerts given at this time.

The second hour band is composed chiefly of students of the seventh, the eighth, and the ninth grades. It meets only twice a week as a complete unit, and for the other three days is divided into smaller groups for sectional practice. In these practices they are constantly working for quality and are drilled in rhythm, tone, quality, expression, and attack. They also receive a course in theory work in conjunction with the second hour orchestra under the direction of Mr. C. J. Best.

Most of the members of this band are those who, as members of the Junior High School Band, took first place in the Junior division of the Greater St. Louis Band Contest during the summer. They have also co-operated with the third hour group in playing for athletic meets and football, basketball, and baseball games. They have played for assembly programs, meetings of various Parent-Teachers Associations, the St. Louis and St. Louis County Police Association, and in other entertainments. This organization took a creditable part in the concert presented by the High School Bands in May and are winning favorable recognition for themselves throughout the county.

We find in this group practically the complete instrumentation which in the course of time will give us a full symphonic band. We are looking forward to the further development of these boys and girls, and expect them in the next few years to bring new laurels and new honors to our school.

The Second Hour Orchestra is composed chiefly of students from the seventh, the eighth, and the ninth grades, although there are some coming from the upper grades. Most of the members of this orchestra are pupils who have had some training in the grade schools under the direction of Mr. Lemcke.

The group this year is excellently balanced, having in it a bassoon, an oboe, four French horns, a good string section, and a harp.

The string instruments have been working on contest music in which they are co-operating with the third hour group, while the orchestra as a whole has studied overtures, marches, and light opera music.

The members of this organization are required to have a life's history report on a selected musical composer once a week. A careful record is kept of the amount of home practice done, since the music department feels that success lies mainly in this factor. A manuscript notebook is also kept, having in it simple but fundamental types of harmony. All major and minor scales are being studied and some work in intervals will be done before the termination of the present semester. All this theory work is given every Monday morning to a joint meeting of the Second Hour Orchestra and Band. The work is being supervised by Mr. C. J. Best.

Both Mr. Best and Mr. Lemcke state that within two years we may expect to have a full symphonic high school orchestra.

The third hour band is the culmination of a long period of instruction on instrumental music in Webster Groves Public Schools. At the conclusion of this course the student finds himself equipped to continue his study at college and to adopt music as his life's work.

During the summer the band practiced diligently and entered the Greater St. Louis Band Contest. When school opened in September, Mr. Lemcke, as their director, was able to present to the High School the cup awarded by Mr. Nathan Frank to the band taking first place. In addition to this they have played at several assembly programs, meetings of Parent-Teachers Associations, the Old Folks' Home in Kirkwood, the veteran soldiers at Jefferson Barracks, and before other county schools. They, together with the orchestra, entered the district contest at Cape Girardeau. In May the group presented its annual concert at the High School auditorium.

The most advanced orchestra, the one which meets during the third period, is composed mainly of students from the tenth, the eleventh, and the twelfth grades who have studied music for some time. Each of the members has accomplished much on his individual instrument.

A great deal of enthusiasm for good music is being felt by this group. Overtures, operas, and many other types of compositions have been studied.

The climax of the year's work came with the contest held near the close of the term at Cape Girardeau, Mo. Although some members of the Second Hour Orchestra were chosen to participate in this, the third hour group was the nucleus about which the contest orchestra was built. The string section spent an hour or more after school practically every day for a month working on the required number, "Symphonietta" by Franz Peter Schubert, and when at last they left, they were well prepared to compete with the other schools of the district.

In addition to this, the orchestra has played for various associations and assemblies as a feature of entertainment, and from its ranks has been chosen the personnel of the operetta orchestra—twenty members who worked diligently to make the orchestra side of the operetta a success.

The Alpha Hi-Y, the older of the two Webster Groves Hi-Y Clubs, has again enjoyed a year crowded with activities. By co-operating with the Beta Chapter in planning club programs, and by raising money to bring European boys to Toronto for a Hi-Y summer conference, the club tried to reach the standard of its purpose—"To create, maintain, and extend, throughout school and community, high standards of Christian character."

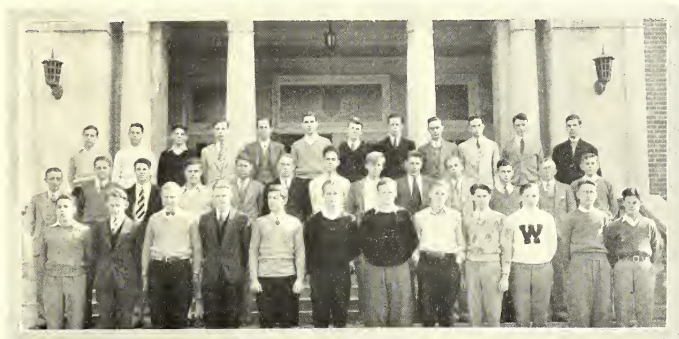

During the past year the boys of the club have heard talks on such varied subjects as humorous war experiences, sports, business, police work (accompanied by a tear gas demonstration), world peace, and social service. In his inimitable way, Mr. W. F. "Doc" Lewis has led the members through many interesting discussions.

One of the most novel experiences of the Hi-Y club came through the courtesy of Mr. Seneca P. Taylor, State commissioner of boxing and wrestling, who allowed the whole membership to see a mid-winter wrestling match at the Coliseum. For two hours the Webster boys gleefully watched the mammoths of the squared circle toss each other around with all sorts of leverages.

Few times did the club provide its members with such an interesting opportunity as this, but the constructive planning of the whole year made the Hi-Y club thoroughly worth-while.

"Where are you? Where are you going? Are you willing to pay the price?" These thought provoking questions Rev. George Gibson left with an early fall meeting of the Beta Chapter of the Hi-Y. By means of talks, which always left the group richer for the experience, and by discussions the club strove towards its objective—the accomplishment of the Hi-Y purpose.

A typical meeting of the club? It is Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. There are sounds of scuffling on the Congregational church lawn. "Bus" Coester emerges on top of Mr. "Gene" Wood, the staid and conservative instructor of dramatics and, incidentally, the sponsor of the Hi-Y, Beta Chapter.

As the officers of the club arrive, the small group moves inside, and when the number, increasing by twos and threes, reaches a satisfactory height, the meeting begins, but only after the President's remonstrances to a few members who are loudly debating the school's football prospects. After Al Miltenberger gives the Treasurer's report, Charley Carr tells of the activities of the dance committee. For three-quarters of an hour or more the members attentively listen to an interesting speaker who seeks to help the boys solve the problems which confront young men of to-day. After a short discussion the meeting breaks up, and while some members go home to study, others depart for various destinations.

Perhaps the most popular of the clubs of the lower schools is the Alpha I. Y. Club, first of its kind in Missouri. The history of this organization, which was founded in 1926, is nearly as old as that of the former Junior High School. The purpose of the club is "to cultivate the mind, body, and spirit so as to best serve the school and community."

So popular has this organization become this year, that for the second time (it began as two groups five years ago) it has resolved into two sections: the Alpha and the Beta Chapters.

Highlights of the year's activities were trips to the downtown Y. M. C. A. Late in January a banquet, at which the remarkable "wise-cracking" talents of John Alden as a toastmaster were discovered, was held for the departing members. At various other times inductions and dinners were held there. Need it be added that, whenever possible, a meal at the "Y" was accompanied by a swim in the organization's large pool and by the click of billiard balls.

Discussions on interesting subjects and talks by such prominent men as Rev. John C. Inglis, assistant pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rev. George Gibson of the Congregational church, and Mr. Geo. A. F. Hay, took up most of the time of the regular meetings.

The Senior Vocational Club has a purpose of tremendous scope—that of studying the vocations open to the high school graduate, an aim accomplished by hearing from speakers, by taking trips to factories and plants of various types, and by holding open discussions among the members.

In pursuing its object during the past year, the club has been addressed by such men of diversified experiences, as Mr. Alfred Lee Booth, who represents the insurance business; Mr. W. D. Alderson of a public utility company; Mr. Moody Lentz, assistant curator of the snake house at the St. Louis Zoo; and Father P. J. Dooley. The members visited many points of interest among which were the Anheuser-Busch plant and the Swift packing plant.

The Senior Vocational Club has had a very active part in the life of the school for several years. Since its founding four years ago, the club has been sponsored by Miss Winifred Toner. In the second year of the organization's existence, Miss Helen Toner helped her sister with its management, but in 1928 the enrollment became so large that she founded the second group of the Vocational Club.

Each year the club holds two social events. In 1931 late in January the members gave a Buffet supper in the teachers' lunch room. Afterwards there was dancing in the girls' gym. The annual outing in the spring was again a big success.

"The prohibition law is a success and should not be changed."—"There is more liquor drunk now than ever before."—"The law is being enforced fairly well now."—and so the battle went on.

Meetings of the discussion club were very lively and interesting with arguments flying fast and furiously. A wide range of subjects, such as "Student Council," "Fraternalities and Sororities," "College Education," "Prohibition," "Cash and Carry Trade," "Teaching of Psychology in the High School," and "The Desirability of Radio" were discussed.

At the first of the year, as an aid to conducting the meetings, Mr. Aldrich gave a talk on "Parliamentary Law." He gave numerous illustrations of the Parliamentary Rules, many of which have been used consistently in the meetings.

Later in the term Mr. Combs gave a talk on "Modern Poetry" in which he read various poems from Carl Sandburg, E. A. Robinson, Robert Frost, and others.

The Christmas meeting at which ice cream and cake were served was by no means the least enjoyable one of the year.

When the would-be members of the Senior Dramatic Club met together for the first time this year it was discovered that few of them had ever been in a club of this sort before, and still fewer knew anything about how it should be conducted. Accordingly the first few meetings were given over to reorganization and the planning of future meetings.

At last it was decided that the whole group should be cast in several short plays to be rehearsed during the club periods and later given in turn with the rest of the club as audience and critics. Whereupon several volunteers collected plays and reported upon them to their less energetic brothers, and the following five were chosen and cast: "Thursday Evening," "Bedroom Suite," "Wrong Numbers," "His Blue Serge Suit," and "Sham."

The next few meetings were devoted to the discussion of drama and to the memorizing of parts for the plays. The first of these, "Thursday Evening," was presented before the club, but as the organization was disbanded at the beginning of the second semester the others were not given.

Miss Gann's group is one of two Senior organizations that have done excellent work in the field of dramatics.

At the first meeting in September, Miss Cutler called to order the dramatic club, consisting of many of the prominent seniors. After the officers were elected and the dues decided upon, a committee was appointed for the purpose of drawing up a constitution.

The next few meetings were spent in discussing drama and characteristics of plays. Next the club took steps to choose a play for class presentation.

"The Valiant," although not publicly given, was competently practiced with the class as critics. Dick Coates, "The Valiant," known as Dyke in the play; Virginia Linde, his sister; the warden, Bill Freschi; the priest, Milton Young; and an attendant, Albert Hemphill, made up the suitable cast. Dyke, having killed a man, shields his family's reputation by lying about his identity, telling his sister that he knew of her brother and that he had been killed in the war. The dramatic situations have been excellently given by these characters.

The Junior Dramatic Club was organized under the direction of Miss Izeyl Miller with a two-fold purpose: to study some of the principles of dramatic expression and to afford an opportunity for the individual members to take part in at least one play.

Three groups with Ruth Jane Verdier, Judy Harkey, and Bill Sheppard as leaders were formed in order to heighten the interest of the members and to give each individual a better opportunity for dramatic expression.

Before play production was attempted, many meetings were entirely devoted to pantomimes, character portrayal, dramatic reading, and other exercises.

For the benefit of the club make-up fund, the members in an afternoon performance in the auditorium presented the play, "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," a two act comedy in which an Irish cook brings a pair of separated lovers together by mixing two telephone messages.

The rest of the school will never know what wonders the members were able to make of their faces with the aid of the make-up they managed to obtain. Perhaps Miss Miller finally obtained a club of students who, to all appearances, were angels that would mind her slightest whim.

The old organization of the Sophomore Dramatic Club was started again at the beginning of the first term by the incoming Sophomores. This year's club had two sponsors: Mr. Combs, at the beginning of the year; and, after his resignation from the faculty, Mr. Butterfield, a new teacher in Webster High.

This dramatic club worked on and presented three plays in the fall for the club members. In the spring they presented two other plays before the assembly: "Betty's Butler" and "Her Deaf Ear," both of which were directed by Florence Leutwiler. During the regular meetings the members discussed questions concerning dramatics, or at other times gave pantomimes and readings; and at one meeting they were entertained by a very interesting program presented by one of Mr. Wood's dramatic classes.

The club has had a most enjoyable and instructive year with only a few mishaps which were laughable in the end.

The Spanish Club this year has had nearly a capacity membership. Its purpose is to stimulate in the Spanish students an interest in Spanish language, customs, and history. To this end and also for the entertainment of the members the club has had several speakers presenting a variety of subjects; Mr. Combs spoke on "Day Dreaming"; Miss Southerland spoke on "Mexico"; Mr. Goslin, on "Spanish Missions and Navajos"; Mr. Garrett, on his trip to Europe on a mule boat; Mr. Anderson, on "Guatemala"; Helen Ewen, a member of the club, reported on "Seville"; Allen Bickley, another member, told about "Salamanca"; and Mary Strom entertained the club with pantomimes.

During the first semester the members visited a home built and furnished in a typically Spanish style of architecture.

On a Saturday during the fall the group spent the day at Meramec Quarry, and enjoyed a delightful steak fry. On a Wednesday meeting in February the club had a Valentine party with games, prizes, and, not the least welcome, refreshments.

In the spring the club members went to the "Castilla" for a dinner. This restaurant, with its costumed maids, with its handsome señores who strum guitars, and with its iron wrought well, reminds one of old Spain.

Two clubs with but a single purpose! The Science and Radio Club functions as two different units with separate officers and meetings but with one purpose—to further the interests of science in the school.

About twenty-five young Galileos, pioneering in the realms of darkness, make up the roster of the two organizations.

Subjects that have mystified all have been explored in the course of the Science Club program. What fascination to learn the wonders of electricity and of machines; to employ the microscope to advantage; and to build, as the Radio section did, a regenerative receiver. The Science Club, not to be outdone by this last achievement, put a spectroscope in working order, and with it the members were able to see the spectra of different flames. The tasks of the Radio section were perhaps more difficult than those of the Science group. Radio work goes slowly; therefore good results are greatly appreciated.

Speakers did not play a prominent part in the program of the two bodies, but such help as was given by Mr. J. Gilbert, a radio expert, was gratefully received; and Mr. William F. Schulz, sponsor of both groups, gave aid when it was needed.

This year's French Club is different from that of previous years. Its purpose has been to further the knowledge of French, of French life and customs. The members have carried out this aim in part by having the minutes written and read in French.

The program committee, headed by Mary Harford and, during the second semester, by Harriet Wolff, did excellent work. Father Dooley gave an interesting talk on the relationship of languages; Mr. Garrett spoke on his experiences in Italy, especially Venice; Miss McClure gave a talk on French customs, illustrated by post cards. A letter from Miss Norris thanking the club for its Christmas present was another feature of the programs.

The Christmas meeting was one of the most entertaining of the year. After the distribution of gifts, and chocolate Santa Clauses from an unknown giver, several girls in costume sang French Christmas songs. Ruth Hicks gave a talk on French Christmas customs illustrated by a crèche which Miss McClure had made. The crèche is a box which contains a manger, Mary, Joseph, and domestic animals.

One Wednesday Roger Rogge, a French boy who is attending school here spoke to the club. French games have been played during several meetings.

“Tramp, tramp, tramp,
 The fencers marching,
 Cheer up comrades—”

But really no one needed cheering up that morning. The hot dogs sizzling over an open fire added the final touch to the spirits of a rollicking group of fencers. And then when everything was ready—well, every bit of art they might have learned with their swords was forgotten and they devoted themselves to “spearing” the food. For when you’re on a breakfast hike you don’t sit back and wait for people politely to pass you things.

This particular breakfast party was given in celebration of a hard-earned victory. At the beginning of the year Ione Solomon and Florence Johnstone, both pupils of Miss Dorothy Stanley, became the leaders of the two groups of fencers. The next meetings were devoted to talks on the fine points of the art and to practising these points. At the end of several months a tournament was held between the two teams to determine which had advanced the farther. Florence Johnstone’s group won, and Ione’s pluckily came back with this breakfast hike to the winners.

The Fencing Club is a new one, organized this year, but it has been busy in doing quite as much as some of our old stand-bys. In addition to their intensive practising they have enjoyed many fine programs arranged by a committee consisting of Florence Johnstone, Julia Hutchinson, Paul Kuever, Sara L. Guth, and Jack Alvey.

The object of the Aviation Club has been to promote interest in aeronautics to the fullest extent possible in the time allotted during club period. In pursuing this objective the members have taken several interesting trips to local aviation fields for the study of airplane factories, their operation, and methods. The club also went to Parks Field where the majority of the members had the novel experience of going up in airplanes. Major Anderson, chief instructor of Parks' Air College, came to a meeting and gave the members a very interesting talk concerning simple aerodynamics.

During the first term many members of the club showed a good deal of interest in making model airplanes as well as in learning about large ones. There were three contests in which model planes competed with each other and performed creditably. Other contests were held in the second semester in which planes were entered in competition with those of schools in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Although the Aviation Club has been in existence for only a short time, it gives promise of being one of the most popular with future Webster High School students.

The Girl Reserves, a comparatively new organization started in 1926, has been exceedingly active in school life. Being affiliated with the Y. W. C. A., it has continually kept in touch with the St. Louis Chapter.

The club is divided into committees which take charge of programs, social service, and membership work. The program committee, headed by Margaret Close, gave the members many interesting speakers such as Mrs. Dorothy Gaynor Blake, Mrs. W. S. Cook, and Miss Margaret Heath. Through the social service committee, under Alice Curd's leadership, the club has done much good work. The members have dressed dolls for the Y. W. C. A. nursery. At Christmas and other times the club has sent baskets to many poor families. The membership committee arranged a recognition service, the method of installing new members, which is observed by all Girl Reserve Organizations. With the help of Mary Ann Tirrell, who was the chairman of the committee they recognized thirty girls. Dolores Hem, the Social Committee chairman, arranged small club entertainment activities but no large social gatherings were held.

Many of the girls have gone to the Y. W. C. A. where they learned how to tap dance and how to make jewelry. The Girl Reserves is not only an acting organization in our school but is one which is beneficial to the students.

The Yellow Jacket Club is the most active girl's organization at Webster Groves High School. It strives to carry out its high ideals in scholarship, sportsmanship, and school spirit.

The club is well known for its pep and enthusiasm. What game is complete without a bleacher full of girls wearing the orange and black jackets?

This year the club was left without the valued guidance of Miss Izevl Miller, but the girls finally decided on Miss Florence Woodward as their sponsor. After an initiation for the new members, the Yellow Jackets began raising money for a school banner. The girls got busy and sold candy at football games and presented the banner to the school in the Thanksgiving Day Assembly. They cooperated in putting on the Pep Rally before the big Kirkwood game, helped to furnish refreshments for visiting hockey varsities, and sponsored a unique pep dinner before the Maplewood basketball game, creating so much enthusiasm that the mock team beat Maplewood even if the bona-fide team didn't win.

After a busy baseball and track season, the Yellow Jackets staged a picnic-hike and thus ended a most successful year.

Among the clubs which the past year has brought to life for a second time is the Senior Rifle Club. This reorganized activity was so popular at the first of the year that two groups had to be made of the students who applied for membership, and as a result there were too many members for the available guns. But in January enough members withdrew to combine the two groups into one and the single body was affluent enough to purchase two new rifles with which its members attempted to surpass all previous target records.

Although through the instructions of the two sponsors, Mr. Hugh MacDonald and Mr. W. G. Winton, the Rifle Club was able to offer some definite opportunities to its members, their average score remained rather low during the whole year. But high scores were attained by a few individual members, some of whom shot as high as 45 out of a possible 50 points.

For the sake of competition, the club was divided into four teams which vied with each other at every meeting. In addition further incitement to individual effort was obtained by giving the five boys with the highest scores the privilege of extra periods of practice along with the sponsors.

Next year the Senior Rifle Club may join some national association of Rifle Clubs in which they will be able to compete with groups from all over the country.

The Debate Team

The debate team this year has progressed in a singularly successful manner, advancing from one victory to another, and making debating one of the major activities of the high school. The members of the squad have participated in approximately fifty debates and have won a great majority of them.

The State League team composed of Jeannette Rottersmann and David Horton won the final championship of the East Central District of Missouri after defeating six strong teams, McBride, Christian Brothers College, Maplewood, University City, St. Anthony, and St. Genevieve. This entitled them to enter the final state tournament at Columbia the first of May.

The girl's team of Jeannette Rottersmann and Jesse Franklin Jeter entered the tournament sponsored by William Woods College and finished with great distinction as runner-up. The girls also came home with all the individual honors attainable, Miss Jeter being ranked first and her colleague second with the highest averages offered during the five year's history of this tournament and making Webster the first school to gain both scholarships in one year.

This same team entered the tournament held at Fayette, Missouri, under the auspices of the National Forensic League, again winning second place. This, together with the other victories achieved at Fayette, caused Webster to tie for first place with their hosts: Katherine Senne placed first in dramatic declamation and third in oratorical; Eva Nan Russell, first in humorous declamation; Elizabeth Phillips, second in humorous and dramatic; and Russell Solomon, third in oratory.

During the latter part of the year the three girls who had placed in declamation at Fayette, and three members of the debate team: David Horton, Jeannette Rottersmann, and Jesse Franklin Jeter, entered the National tournament at Ripon, Wisconsin, to the further glory of the school.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is the National honorary society for High School journalists, organized with the end in view of recognizing and rewarding ability and achievement in the field of High School journalism. The Joseph Pulitzer Chapter was inaugurated at Webster High School in 1927.

At the opening of this school year there were but three active members of the chapter: Jeannette Rottersmann, Ruth Schmidt and Mary Catherine Trueblood. Four new members: Mary Evelyn Fox, Elmer Hood, Lois Simcoke, and Alfred Wilkinson were initiated into the group at mid-year; and in the spring six more students, who had done superior work in journalism were admitted to membership. These six were Ruth Bowling, Bill Chapman, David Horton, Edward King, Boyd Rogers and Inez Wilson.

In order to become a member of the Quill and Scroll, one must pass four tests. He must be of junior or senior classification and in the upper third of his class in general scholastic standing at the time of his election. He must have done outstanding work in some phase of journalism, must have the recommendation of the supervisor of publication in the High School, and the approval of the National Secretary-Treasurer of the Society.

Miss Mary Howard has been the faculty sponsor of the Pulitzer Chapter of Quill and Scroll since its advent into Webster High School.

The National Junior Honor Society, although a very new organization both nationally and locally, has enjoyed a successful year at the Webster High School. The Webster Lower School Chapter was formed in May, 1930, as one of the many offsprings of the National Honor Society, a senior high school organization.

There are thirty members in the Webster Chapter, chosen from the upper ten per cent of their class for Scholarship, Service, Leadership and Character.

The Society does not offer much organized activity, because it is mainly an organization to recognize the successful efforts of students. Besides business meetings, there were two evening gatherings of the group. One was a party given at the Pierson residence so that the charter members could become acquainted with those who were elected in December, 1930. Also an induction ceremony for the new members of March, 1931 was given at the Woodress residence. The parents of the new members were invited to this meeting.

To the Sponsor, Miss Richey, for her untiring efforts, goes the appreciation of the Webster Chapter.

The photography club, newly organized this year, has done some very profitable work. Its members don't just say "See the birdie" but they really understand how a picture must be taken.

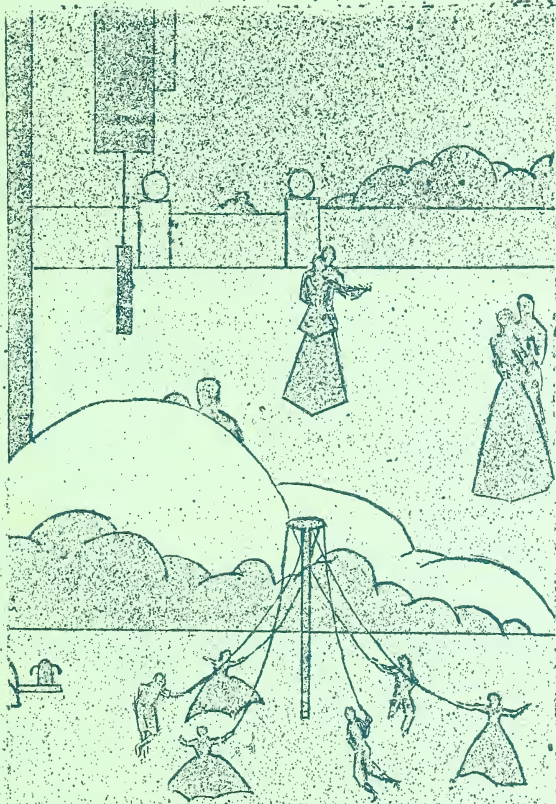

The fact that around school this organization has been known as the "Kodak Club" implies that they were merely interested in ordinary kodak pictures. This certainly was not the case. Under Miss Northcutt's supervision the members did many things. Various reports were given on the different fields in photography and also on the origin and development of the Eastman Company.

The principles of photography, learned from these reports, were practiced by the members who took pictures around the campus during club period. These snapshots were shown to the class and criticized so that each photographer might improve his work.

Day pictures alone were not the only kind studied by the class. Joe Kitterman and Bennett Tucker took several night pictures and explained the process to the other members of the club. Another especially enthusiastic supporter of photography, Harold Horne, chairman of the program committee, helped outline the work for the first semester and stimulated the club by his intelligent criticism.

Webster was extremely well represented this year and walked off with third place scholastically, second place in music, and first place in sports.

For the first time the plaque for the English championship of Missouri will take its place of honor among the other trophies in our case. To gain this trophy, points were won by Tom Baskett, second, and David Horton third in Senior English; Lawrence Heath, second; Phillip Monypenny, third; and David Horton, fourth in Essay; Jeannette Rottermann, second in Extemporaneous Speaking; and Eva Nan Russell, third in Interpretative Reading.

Webster tied with Smith-Cotton of Sedalia for first place in Mathematics. The six points won were made by Harriet Metcalf, first in College Algebra; and Pauline Hoener, fourth in Plane Geometry.

Other winners were Jessie Franklin Jeter, first in Vergil; Inez Wilson, fourth in Vergil; Helen Konesko, first and Donald Ellinger, fourth, in Cicero; in Modern History, Louis Zell, third; in American History, Phillip Monypenny, third; and Madelyn Linke, third in French.

To win second in Music the Girls' Glee Club, the Girls' Quartet, and the Mixed Chorus captured first place. The Boys' Glee Club took third place. In solo work Wilson Robinson won first in piano; Kenneth Compton, second in flute; Russell Solomon, second in trombone.

First place in block printing went to Dorothy Merkel, and second place in decorative art to Dick MacKeen.

The Echo was ranked third; Hal Rice received honorable mention for his cartoons.

One of the outstanding productions of the high school year was the senior play, "Dulcy", a three-act comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly given by the senior class under the expert direction of Mr. Eugene Wood. On both the 20th and 21st of March large audiences turned out to show their appreciation for the polished production which will go down in history as one of the best senior plays ever produced by a Webster High cast.

"Dulcy" is a modern play with plenty of sparkling humor. Dulcinea Smith leads her husband Gordon thru many trying situations when she attempts to run his business. The scene of action is laid in the Smith home in New York where a Mr. C. Roger Forbes, accompanied by his wife and daughter Angela, comes to arrange a jewelry monopoly with Mr. Smith. Other guests at the Smith home include William Parker, Dulcy's brother; Vincent Leach, a fanatical scenarist; and Tom Sterrett, Forbes' advertising manager. They all are suitors of Angela and provide many a laugh before William Parker finally wins her hand. When Dulcy's meddling has ruined Gordon's arrangement with Forbes, Schuyler Van Dyck, a demented pianist, who assumes the role of a millionaire, makes Forbes think that he (Van Dyck) is going to form a jewelry monopoly with Smith and Forbes is then glad to close the deal with Dulcy's husband. The play thus ends happily.

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION

Gives you a big advantage in the affairs of life—if you are wise enough to make the most of your knowledge.

Should Make Your Path Smoother

Your High School Education followed by a definite special training will make your path smoother—provided you exercise a reasonable amount of common sense in the proper application of what you know and can do.

Business a Great Field of Opportunity

Because Business needs you, there can be no mistake in making your special education directly for business.

Prepare and be Ready for Your Opportunity

It is always wise to prepare and be ready for your opportunity—but, this year you will be exercising ultra wisdom in spending your time in special training—good conditions will have arrived about the time you are ready to go to work.

Make a Visit to Our School

You are cordially invited to make a visit to our school. We shall be delighted to explain our plan to you. If you cannot visit the school personally, a card or telephone call will bring full information.
